

RECRUITING STATION

EXEMPTION BOARD INSTRUCTED TO USE ITS ORGANIZATION TO ENLIST MEN FOR ARMY

The Exemption Board is in receipt of a circular letter from Adjutant General Borree on the subject of recruiting, under which it is advised that the local boards are now the recognized recruiting agents for the United States Army and that a Board's efficiency will be rated according to the manner in which it secures recruits for the army from among its registrants.

Each enlistment now secured for the army means one man less to be supplied by a Local Board when the next quota is called for.

Under Call X any man who wishes to get into any special branch of the service can make application to the Chief of Corps at Washington, who will pass upon the applications and order him into the branch of service the applicant desires if he, the Chief, sees fit. The would-be recruit writes to Washington, but the preliminary examinations are taken here and the Local Board puts the man in service on receipt of orders from Washington.

Chairman Lanterman interprets the order making the Local Boards recruiting agents to mean that the Boards are authorized to recruit men for any branch of the service from the ages of 18 to 45.

Men who want to go will therefore do well to consult Chairman Lanterman. Meanwhile there is a chance to get to France quickly by enlisting under the call for chauffeurs and cooks, of which the government has urgent need for service abroad.

The time may come again when, as in the Civil War, the fife and drum will advertise a recruiting station in every city of any size. The needs of the hour are affording a fine chance for veterans to serve by arousing the patriotism of young men and persuading them to enlist without waiting to be called; also by doing their bit to encourage the use of land for food production.

A RALLYING CRY

BRITISH AMBULANCE SOCIETY TO HAVE DRIVE FOR RED CROSS WORKERS

We, the Glendale Branch of the British Ambulance Society, are organizing a membership drive and asking the help of every British born resident of Glendale and vicinity. We are a small band at present, mostly women, but we have carried on the work of the Society effectively ever since December 10th, 1915, when this branch was organized.

Now we are desirous of extending our work and our membership, and hereby invite every man, woman and child not already actively engaged in Red Cross work to join us, especially those of British birth and descent. We need your help and personal support.

English, Irish, Scotch, Welsh, Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders, let us hear from and have representatives of each. Our splendid soldiers are fighting and dying for us "over there" and we at home must do our bit to "carry on" and support them. Every dollar membership and every bandage sent by us to our London Headquarters may help to save a life. All the Allies are helped by our Society.

A meeting will be held in the Glendale High School Auditorium, Thursday, March 7th, at 8:00 p. m. Henry D. Boddington, D. S. F. R. G. S. Royal Colonial Inst., London, will give an address and state the aims and plans of the Society. Other speakers will be Mr. Bernard Paul, Secretary of the L. A. Branch, and one of the officers from the British Recruiting Mission. There will also be good music. If you cannot come to this meeting will you let us have your name for membership?

If such consent be not given, the packages will be returned to the sender.

KEEP HANDS OFF IN EASTERN SITUATION

ADMINISTRATION CONSIDERING WHETHER OR NOT TO MAKE PROTEST AGAINST JAPANESE INTERVENTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The American government will keep "hands off" in the eastern situation permitting Japan and Great Britain to decide the course Japan shall pursue in Siberia and Russia, Senator Lewis of Illinois, democratic whip, told the Senate today. Lewis declared the United States has no agreement or compact with Japan regarding Russia. "The United States is fighting for democracy and she cannot allow any conduct of any foreign people anywhere to endanger the principles of democracy," Lewis asserted.

If Japan sends an expeditionary force to Russia she will do so without the approval of the United States government. The United Press is able to state on the highest authority that the delicate question facing President Wilson and his cabinet this afternoon is whether or not this government shall protest against Japanese intervention in Siberia and if so how strongly. The opinion here is that Senator Lewis was right when he stated in the Senate today that Japanese intervention is a question to be settled by Great Britain and Japan. The United States has no agreement with either Japan or Russia and therefore is regarded as a mere "looker on." How long she can remain a disinterested "looker on" is the knotty issue confronting the president. A decision is expected this afternoon.

ELKS ELECT OFFICERS

BERT P. WOODARD CHOSEN TO HEAD GLENDALE HERD THE COMING YEAR

Officers were elected at a regular and very representative meeting of Glendale Lodge No. 1289, B. P. O. E., Monday evening at which the following members were chosen to fill posts of honor:

Bert P. Woodard, Exalted Ruler, C. D. Thom, Esteemed Leading Knight.

Roger Brown, Esteemed Loyal Knight, A. L. Weaver, Esteemed Lecturing Knight.

Herman Nelson, Treasurer, R. M. Jackson, Secretary, Archie M. Parker, Tyler, Stanley Frentz, Trustee,

Albert D. Pearce, present Exalted Ruler, Delegate to Grand Lodge, Peter L. Ferry, Past Exalted Ruler, Alternate.

Mr. Woodard has been an Elk since 1909, having been initiated into Lodge No. 72, of Nashville, Tenn., May 20th of that year. He was transferred to the Glendale Lodge by demit September 8th, 1913, and has been ever since one of its most enthusiastic and valued members. Having filled successively the offices of Esteemed Lecturing Knight, Esteemed Loyal Knight and Esteemed Leading Knight, he is well qualified for the high office for which he has been named, and his fellow members who have watched his progress in Elkdom have every confidence in his ability to lead the Lodge in the period of prosperity upon which it is entering in its new home.

Mr. Woodard is a very modest man and it is not easy to persuade him to talk about himself, but a few biographical details of his early life and professional career have been gleaned which will be of interest to Glendale people, whether they be inside or outside the charmed circle of Elks.

Mr. Woodard was born in Fayetteville, Tenn., July 5th, 1879, and missed being an Independence Day boy by only about two hours, a circumstance he has never ceased to regret, because he is a most patriotic citizen. He attended the public schools of his native town and after being graduated from the High School entered Cumberland University, finally taking a law course there and after graduation entering the office of his father as a law partner. Two years later he moved to Nashville, Tenn., where he was associated in the practice of his profession with James S. Brown, former mayor of the city. He remained there until 1911, when he came to Los Angeles the latter part of the year and not long after that located in Glendale, where he has resided for more than four years.

After his arrival in Los Angeles he was for a short time connected with the law firm of Flint, Gray and Barker, but severed that connection to become the attorney for the Los Angeles Wholesale Board of Trade, which position he held for two years, resigning it at that time to enter upon the private practice of law in association with William T. Craig.

Installation of officers will take place the first meeting in April. It will be quite an elaborate ceremony which will be largely attended.

PRETTY LUNCHEON

Mrs. James W. Kennedy, of 1530 Sycamore avenue, was hostess at a dainty five-course luncheon Friday.

"The breath of spring" was suggested in all the appointments as well as the menu. The center of the table was adorned with a large basket of magnificent sweet peas, while strands of smilax were laid on the cloth. The place cards showed dainty bits of Japanese scenery. Napkin rings and bonbon baskets were fashioned by the clever fingers of the hostess. Favors in the shape of large cocoons adorned with silver butterflies afforded much merriment, for when opened with a bang they disclosed liberty caps, whistles, miniature fans, rings and other trinkets. Each lady donned her liberty cap and those fortunate enough to secure whistles proceeded to blow them.

Covers were laid for sixteen and the guest list included Mesdames Adams, Boettner, Bullinger, Atkinson, Spaulding, Holcomb, Yard, Siple, Goldthwaite, Williams, Miner, Colson, Brown, Madam Holcomb and Miss Derby who is spending the winter in Glendale.

At the close of the luncheon, guests adjourned to the living room where, with cheery conversation, knitting and fancy work the afternoon passed too quickly. Several readings from James Whitcomb Riley's poems were given by the hostess.

INSPECT LIBRARY

TRUSTEES, STAFF AND INTERESTED FRIENDS MEET IN REMODELED ROOMS

A very nice meeting was held in the city building at the corner of Brand and Tropic avenues Monday evening, at which the committee appointed by the City Council to supervise the alterations necessary to provide larger quarters for the Branch Library, submitted the completed work for inspection and turned it over to the city. Present at the gathering were the City Trustees of Glendale, the City Library Board, Frank Peters, representing the Board of Trustees of the former city of Tropic, Mrs. J. C. Danford, City Librarian, Charles Cushing, Librarian of Tropic Branch, a corps of Library Assistants, members of the former Library Board of Tropic, and old residents who were identified with the establishment of the Glendale and Tropic libraries.

In its enlarged quarters and fresh garb, the library inspired the admiration of all who were there and all voiced the appreciation of the general public of the changes which have been made.

New lamps with frosted bulbs and reflectors yielded a flood of softened light which was very welcome to the readers who frequent the room and which made the quarters very attractive. The two wings of the main library afford plenty of space for the proper display and disposal of the books, for the arrangement of new and circulating magazines, for the small chairs and tables provided for small patrons, and for adult readers. The small workroom at the rear where a typewriter is to be installed and where repairing will be done, the big vault for storage, are also great adjuncts to the library.

An adjournment was taken to the audience room above, where W. W. McElroy, president of the Glendale Library Board, called the meeting to order and explained its purpose to inspect and receive from the hands of the alteration committee, the improved quarters for the library, and to express to the citizens of that part of Glendale the desire of the library officials to meet in every reasonable expectation of patrons of that branch.

J. S. Thompson, president of the Board of Trustees, was then introduced, and made a brief but effective speech in which he expressed the desire of the officials to give the people of the Tropic District every advantage that residents in other parts of the city enjoy and to work with them in a spirit of co-operation and progress.

Walter J. Hibbert, the member of the present Library Board appointed from that section, was the next speaker. He reviewed the efforts of promoters of consolidation to ascertain prior to circulating petitions the policy of Glendale officials towards the district and the promises then (Continued on Page 4)

The committee in charge were the Mesdames M. P. Harrison, R. A. Petersen, W. S. Carmichael, T. W. Preston, and Daniel Campbell. The affair was a surprise to Mr. Edmonds and a welcome on his first evening at home after an extended eastern trip. Crystal baskets filled with violets, with smilax and violets scattered on the cloth and a bunch at each plate, were the table decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. Petersen and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison acted as hosts and hostesses, carving and serving, while the daughters of those present waited upon the table, at which sixty were seated. After dinner brief greetings were given by a representative from each Board and Mr. Edmonds responded with a short talk.

PLEDGE TO FLAG

No piece of English written within the last half century has had so wide a circulation, has been repeated so many times by so many different persons, or is so widely known, as the pledge to the flag. For more than twenty-five years the pupils of a large part of the public schools have repeated it every morning as they have saluted the flag; and in thousands of other schools it has been and is a part of the program on Flag Day, Washington's Birthday and other patriotic occasions. It has even been set to music.

In 1888 the late James B. Upham, then a member of the Perry Mason Company, publishers of the Companion, began the great work of rousing public opinion to the need of better country schoolhouses and better-kept school grounds, and to the opportunity of fostering patriotism by putting the Stars and Stripes over every schoolhouse in the United States. With other members of the firm, and with the co-operation of the editorial staff, he formed a definite plan and proceeded to put it into operation. For the next two years he and his co-workers spent most of their time and very generous sums of money in furthering the work; and in February, 1891, the Companion suggested that the public schools all over the country should celebrate by suitable and uniform exercises the four-hundredth anniversary of the landing of Columbus. The National Education Association approved the suggestion, and Congress made Oct. 21, 1892, a holiday.

In preparation for the event a committee was appointed consisting of all the State superintendents of education, and a special subcommittee that included a representative of the Youth's Companion and that made the Companion office its headquarters was named to prepare a uniform official programme. The chief incidents of the programme were to be the raising of the flag and the salute and pledge. Mr. Upham had already written a form of pledge very much like that which is now so well known, and with the help of other members of the firm and of members of the editorial staff, the present and final form was written: "I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." In that form it was offered to the committee and by them adopted; and from the Youth's Companion building it was sent out to every quarter of the land.

The sight of the flag always flying over the schoolhouse and the beautiful pledge so often and so solemnly repeated during the past quarter of a century have, we hope, some relation to our present unity as a nation and to the splendid patriotism of our young soldiers.—Youth's Companion.

THE LEGEND OF THE TUSCANIA

The romantic imagination of the American newsgatherer, his dramatic instinct, and his sense of the value of "a good story," are said to make his narrative occasionally more picturesque than veracious. Whether the story of the United States troops on the Tuscania singing the "Star Spangled Banner" as the ship slowly submerged is verified or otherwise, it is certain there was no panic under the realization of an event known to be possible, if not actually anticipated.

The tradition of the Birkenhead has been well established in the British service. The Birkenhead was a troop-ship that foundered off the African coast in 1852; four hundred soldiers stood at parade as the women and children were rescued, "while inch by inch the drowning ship sank low, still under steadfast men."

The thousand young recruits on the transport Tyndareus, struck by a mine earlier in the war, were happily rescued by other vessels summoned by wireless, but held their soldierly formation as the ship settled. Kipling celebrated the calm courage of the royal marines when the battleship Victoria foundered: "So they stood an' was still to the Birkenhead drill," living up to the example of other men who faced death unflinchingly.

In the steadfastness of these trained, but as yet untried, soldiers on the Tuscania is illustrated first the effect of discipline and its contagiousness, and its admirable results. If any man felt inclined to break ranks and try to save himself, he was calmed by the discipline of his comrades and commanders. Unquestionably the discipline that prevented a panic was the means of saving many lives, for the convoys, coming to the aid of the stricken ship, were able to discharge their duty more efficiently. That the loss of life was not appreciably larger is due to the conduct of those in peril.

These men of the Tuscania have had the honor of establishing a tradition for the American service. They have shown "the equal temper of heroic hearts," the strength of will "to seek, to find, and not to yield." They illustrate the caliber of the American Army.—Detroit Free Press.

THE KELP PROBLEM

Owing to the fact that kelp constitutes a natural breakwater in the Santa Barbara channel, and because most people are ignorant of the now demonstrated truth that cutting acts upon kelp just as it does on alfalfa, as a stimulant to growth, considerable opposition resulted in the beds of that section being exempted from cutting. This law the large companies have respected generally. Notwithstanding it, the kelp became diseased last summer and great quantities died and were cast upon the shore, doing nobody any good and creating a nuisance by their decomposition.

The state students find that the kelp not only restores itself in 60 to 90 days, but makes a lustier, more rapid growth after cutting. It is also found that cutting is the best cure for the disease to which kelp is subject as the uppermost fronds, which receive the most light and heat, are the chief sufferers and cutting operates exactly as pruning a grape vine does.

With the war demand for potash, which is used largely in explosives, special importance is given to every possible source of supply, importation being impossible, and the kelp has been shown to carry it in big quantities, having the power to separate it from the sea water and store it in stems and foliage. Thus the kelp industry has assumed prime war-time importance, and the by-product of fertilizer has been found to add to the humus content so sorely needed in most California soils.

In case the people of Santa Barbara see fit to exploit the great resource they have in their kelp by harvesting it under regulation which limits the cutting to the recuperative power of the plants, the state will proceed to systematize the entire potash possibilities of the southern coast, bringing in every source of war material under strict regulation of the cutting. Eventually, in the opinion of experts, this will have to be done.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM

It is good news that Washington has decided that Uncle Sam shall go into the lodging house business on a fairly large scale. It looks as if we might in time get our feet on the earth and cease trying to build a sky-scraping war from the top down. Some of Mr. Bryan's million men sprang to arms at the first call. Others sprang, but not to arms, for there were no arms to spring to. As with weapons, so with ships. To build ships we must build shipyards, must have workmen, must house and transport the workmen, after they are assembled. Really at the foundation of the whole thing is the housing problem. Get that settled and we shall be on our way. As in the old folk tale

The fire began to burn the stick,
The stick began to beat the dog,
The dog began to bite the pig,
The pig began to go.
I see by the moonlight
It's half past midnight,
Time pig and I were home
An hour and a half ago.

so now, if the Government will begin to house the men the men will begin to build the ships, the ships will begin to carry the men and supplies and the Hun will begin to go. What we shall see by the moonlight then remains to be seen, but four years of war have taught the world that unless we begin at the beginning and make things move all along the line the pig will never go. Such workmen as are housed near the shipyards must pay their increase in wages and more too for the privilege. Others living at a distance and manfully trying to hold down their jobs are making sacrifices in comfort and health to do it that cannot be kept up. We learn of a Fore River workman living so far away that he has to set his alarm clock at three o'clock in the morning and does not reach home at night until nine. We hear of an engineer at Hog Island who has to pay $60 a week for housing accommodations for himself and wife in Philadelphia. What if his salary was trebled when he went there? He simply passes the increase over to the landlord. A hundred million appropriation for boarding houses sounds large, but the need is larger yet, and the worst of it is it takes time, seemingly a long time, for house building as well as shipbuilding to get under way.—Boston Transcript.

RECLAIM GARBAGE

Thirteen million pounds of kitchen refuse in the United States every year is to be utilized to win the war.

Plans being formulated by the Garbage Utilization Division of the Food Administration provide for the extraction of glycerine, soaps, fats, grease and fertilizer from garbage. A survey of methods in 780 cities is now under way.

The yearly garbage waste of an average American family of four, according to the food administration, can be converted into 3½ pounds of nitroglycerine and fifty cakes of soap, as well as supplying other valuable by-products. Fertilizer sufficient to produce three bushels of wheat can also be taken from waste from the same family table.

Rate from 29 states shows last year's garbage valued at more than $11,000,000.

Houses built while you wait is the new trade of the Red Cross in France. It established a building record when it erected three barracks, accommodating 120 men, in five days.

"Give us a few hours' notice and we'll build a nice warm, comfortable barrack, housing forty people—and in less than two days" is the new sign on the Red Cross shop.

H. L. HOWE'S APPOINTMENT

Professor Harry L. Howe, of Glendale High School, has been appointed chairman of the War Savings committee of Glendale to take the place of Harry Chase, who is taking a law course and did not feel that he could devote the time that should be given to the work by its chairman.

It is the duty of this committee to establish war-savings societies and to get in touch with every local organization and through those organizations make the people acquainted with the need for thrift and start them in systematic saving through thrift stamps and war-savings certificates.

To this end Mr. Howe is anxious that every organization which has a meeting in prospect at which a speaker would be permitted to make a brief address, let him know when the meeting will take place, that he may provide a good speaker to present the matter and organize a society. The plan contemplates the visiting in this way of every lodge, every society, every church in the community. The committee has already been promised by Mr. Watson a hearing before the city employees. It will present the matter to the employees of the Telephone Company and wherever there is a group of ten or more an attempt will be made to work up an organization and start the members in the ways of thrift.

Several societies have already been established in Glendale, the first in the Masonic Lodge of Glendale, the second in the Cerritos avenue P.-T. A., of which Mrs. Ella Richardson is president and Mrs. Thomas Meagher secretary, and where an enrollment of thirty-six was secured. Monday afternoon Mr. Howe presented the matter at the Glendale High School P.-T. A., of which Mrs. Ben H. Nichols is president and Mrs. Clara W. Puffer secretary, and 46 were there enrolled. Another organization meeting is in prospect at the Doran street school, which will be addressed by Superintendent Richardson D. White and Mr. Howe.

At the rate Mr. Howe is organizing these thrift societies Glendale will soon be one big community of war savers with a membership which will take in every age from infants in arms to aged grandparents. The people of America are doing a great deal for the war, but the war is also doing a great deal for Americans in teaching them much needed lessons in thrift.

VAUDEVILLE ECHOES

Friday evening was the last performance of the annual Variety Show at the Glendale Union High School, which has been such an unprecedentedly successful one. Nothing could have better exhibited the splendid spirit of co-operation which our school is so unusually fortunate in possessing, and certainly it is also a matter of pride to discover so much talent among the young people to whose training such a highly specialized organization is devoted.

Credit has earlier been given to the various departments which aided so willingly and ably to make the production the big success it was. Too much praise can not be given to those who gave their time and ability to training the many participants. Mr. N. C. Hayhurst, athletic director, produced some very professional acrobatic feats in the tumbling act, Miss Terry was tireless, not only in the actual dramatic work but in helping in the supervision of the whole affair, and Mr. Percy Davis, the chairman, was a very busy man. Mrs. Dora Gibson may well be proud of her musical numbers, which were skillfully managed even to the last details of costume and stage setting and remarkably well trained. The very difficult and beautiful music of the Girls' Glee Club Indian songs is certainly worthy of much praise and it is to be hoped that so noteworthy an achievement may have opportunity of being exhibited to those outside of Glendale. Such a dramatic and musical success is too good to keep selfishly at home.

The Boys' Glee Club, too, with their touching and inspiring old and new wartime songs in the attractive soldiers' camp setting, made a very special appeal to the audience. The members of the two Glee Clubs, whose names have not been given before in the list of performers, were: Girls' Glee Club, Marion Addison, E. Anderson, Helen Esterly, R. French, Muriel Gardiner, Ruth Hall, C. Heron, Alice Holman, Ruth Lathrop, Margaret Lusby, Cecilia Lyon, L. McKee, L. McNary, Elizabeth Mottern, M. Munyon, Lucile Negley, Dorothy Pankhurst, A. Stoddard, D. Kowley, E. Webb, Constance Beder, G. Allevell, M. Morris, S. Marlow, M. Kent, F. Smith, L. Percey, L. Brice, L. Shea, M. Scott, E. Patterson.

The Boys' Glee Club: Dolliver Webb, G. Emery, Don Weiman, Orville Williams, G. Mitchell, T. Tompson, F. Lanterman, J. Jenkins, O. Showalter, I. Sinclair, H. Bryant, D. Bryant, S. McKee, Harold Russell, M. Barnes, Milton Brown and Robert Carmac.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

A delightful family dinner party was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McKee Monday evening in celebration of the birthday of Mrs. McKee, at which covers were laid for eight. Guests were all from San Pedro. Floral decorations and appointments made a beautiful setting for the birthday feast, a place of honor being given to a lovely birthday cake made and decorated for

RED CROSS JOTTINGS

The Thursday business lunch at the Red Cross shop was a great success and yielded $10.50 for the Chapter's treasury. Everything was sold out clean as a whistle. More contributions have been promised and Mrs. Boettner and her assistants hope that still more people will report a willingness to provide some one thing regularly. It is a simple, easy way for housekeepers who cannot help in other ways, to contribute to the Red Cross by making an extra amount of some article of food which they are preparing for their own tables. Hereafter the luncheons will be served on Thursdays instead of Saturdays.

Monday afternoon is the regular sewing session at the Red Cross headquarters in the hospital garment department, and the ladies will work under the direction of Mrs. Sadler.

Ladies of the Christian Church are now meeting Thursdays to sew for the Red Cross in the Christian Church Bungalow. They very much need another sewing machine, and have sent out an appeal for the loan of one for a few weeks if not permanently. Anyone willing to furnish a machine is asked to telephone Mrs. Jodon, Glendale 666-R.

RECEPTION FOR PASTOR

Tomorrow evening, Wednesday, immediately following prayer meeting, 7:30 to 8:45, there will be a reception from 8:45 to 10 o'clock by the church and congregation for the pastor and his family. All who can are invited to be at prayer meeting, as it is desired to make this meeting of the "Drive" a record one. If unable to be present during any part of the prayer meeting hour, every member and friend of the congregation is cordially invited and urged to be present at the reception following and give a hearty handshake and word of welcome to Mr. Edmonds. The Ladies' Aid have prepared a delightful program and refreshments and have entire charge of the evening, therefore a most enjoyable time is assured. Make your plans to come. Mr. Edmonds will have something to say about his trip.

VETERAN TO YOUNG MAN

Young man, I've had my inning
And it nearly put me out.
A race I am not winning.
But I have a voice to shout.
Heard ye the proclamation
Ho, city marts and farms!
The head of this great nation
Issues a call "To Arms."

Let's loaded with effrontery,
With stock of manhood slim,
Who nothing cares for country
That makes a home for him.
He's not a "Cit" worth having
Who does not shout to see
Above, Old Glory waving,
The banner of the free.

Young man so stout and hearty
Learn now what service means.
Join an enlistment party
And "sail with the marines."
Defend your country's honor,
Be patriotic—brave,
Till everywhere, unsullied,
Behold Old Glory wave.

We're boastful as a nation,
We're powerful, rich and strong.
Indulge in exultation,
In fireworks, speech and song.
Conditions how alluring,
In peace how we delight,
For peace world wide enduring,
Stand ready yet to fight.

My country calls for seamen,
Most gladly would I go
And battle as a freeman,
To make the wide world know
That in the land of Lincoln,
The ballot and the school,
There is no room for despots—
The citizen shall rule.

So, now I'll end my story—
It came about this way,
Was following Old Glory,
Had victory that day,
It was a fearful struggle
And I escaped with life,
But a wooden leg for burden
Now bars me from this strife.
SAMUEL PARKER.

THE JUNIOR RED CROSS SHOP

On Monday, March 11th, a shop which promises to be one of the most exclusive in Glendale will have its opening. This shop is to be maintained by the Intermediate Auxiliary of the Red Cross, and all articles to be found there have been made by the pupils of the Intermediate School.

There will be found on sale beautiful pillows, table runners of new design and exquisitely embroidered, book ends of unique design, hand-somely embroidered silk bags, quaint doorstops of carved wood artistically painted, flower sticks topped with saucy birds of brilliant colors, and toys of many kinds that would delight any child.

The Intermediate School is greatly indebted to the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber Company, who so kindly donated the store building at the corner of Broadway and Maryland for the shop, and wishes to publicly thank them for having aided so greatly this new enterprise.

Mrs. McKee by her mother, who is more than eighty-four years of age, but whose hand has in no respect lost its cunning in the passage of years. The cake was adorned with pink candles and a pink floral wreath. Following the dinner the party spent the evening at the Orpheum in Los Angeles.

EXPLAINS BIBLE ALLEGORY

Dr. Riley's lecture, at the New Thought Center, Sunday, "Did the Whale Swallow Jonah?" proved most interesting and helpful to all.

Dr. Riley said: "This is simply an allegory and should not be taken literally. Times have changed since this was written, and we being a practical people must take the scientific side, analyze it, get the real meaning and use it in our everyday life.

"The whale or great fish symbolizes God the Saviour; the word fish in Greek meaning savior; and Jonah, the disobedient and unlucky. The sea represents turmoil, unrest and chaos always, while the land stands for stability. Jonah heard the voice of God, but did not obey it and was thrown into the sea of turmoil and finally saved and landed safely by God.

"Let us not be Jonahs but heed the voice of God, for 'What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?'"

A solo, "Thou Oh Lord Art My Protector," was sung by Mrs. Newlin, accompanied by Miss Whytock.

Many new faces were noticed in the congregation Sunday and we hope to see many more next Sunday, when Dr. Riley will give a lecture on the great Greek appellation: "Man Know Thyself—the Riddle of the Sphinx."

New Thought Center, Masonic Temple at 11 a. m.

Sunday School at 9:45 under the very able direction of the superintendent, Mrs. Minnette Sherman.

BARLEY AS A FOOD

Approved by the National Food Administration

At this time of world-wide food shortage it is well to know something of the value of barley as a human food. Its nutritive value compares favorably with wheat. High-grade barley contains approximately 15 per cent protein, while wheat averages 13 per cent. The carbohydrate, fat, and mineral content are practically equal.

Since the proteins of barley, when combined with water, fail to form the sticky, elastic substance of gluten essential for the production of the typical loaf of bread—some wheat flour should be mixed with the barley flour, when used for this purpose. When, however, the barley flour is used with eggs, as in cakes or muffins, it may be used alone. Equal parts of wheat flour and barley flour, or two parts of barley to one part of wheat, make satisfactory mixtures.

Barley and Hominy Bread

- 1 Cupful Hot Boiled Hominy Grits
 - 2 Cupfuls Milk
 - 3 Tablespoonfuls Butter Substitute
 - 1/2 Teaspoonful Salt
 - 1 Cupful Barley Meal
 - 2 Teaspoonfuls Baking Powder
 - 2 Eggs
- Add the milk and butter to the cooked hominy grits. Cool, add the salt, barley meal, and baking powder sifted together, then the well-beaten eggs; pour into a buttered dish and bake in moderate oven forty-five minutes. Cut in triangular pieces and serve from dish in which baked.

Barley Muffins

- 1 Cupful Wheat Flour
 - 1 Cup Barley Flour
 - 2 Teaspoonfuls Baking Powder
 - 1 Egg
 - 3/4 Cupful Sour Milk
 - 1/2 Teaspoonful Soda
 - 2 Tablespoonfuls Lard or Beef Drippings
 - 1/4 Teaspoonful Salt
- Sift the flour, barley meal, salt, and baking powder. Dissolve the soda in a little cold water and add to the sour milk. Combine the flour mixture and the sour milk; add the beaten egg and melted fat. Bake in muffin pans in a moderate oven.

Barley Spoon Bread

- 1/4 Cupful Salt Pork Cut in 1/4-in. Cubes
 - 4 Cupfuls Boiling Water
 - 1 Cupful Barley Flour
 - 2 or 3 Eggs
- Cook the salt pork in a saucepan until slightly brown. Add the water and when boiling sprinkle in the barley meal, stirring constantly. Cook in a double boiler for one hour. Cool, and add the well-beaten eggs. Turn into a buttered dish and bake in a moderate oven for three-quarters of an hour.

Knead to a soft dough, adding more flour if necessary. Cover and let rise until the mixture is double its bulk. Knead a second time, form into loaves, place in well-greased pans and let rise a second time until dough has very nearly doubled its bulk. Bake in hot oven from one-half to one hour, depending upon size of loaves.

Sponge Cake

- 4 Eggs
 - 1 Cupful Sugar
 - 1/2 Teaspoonful Salt
 - 1 Cupful Barley Flour

COOKS AND CHAUFFEURS

WANTED FOR THE ARMY AND EXEMPTION BOARD WILL MAKE ENLISTMENTS

Uncle Sam wants 400 chauffeurs or truck drivers and 172 cooks for almost immediate service in France, and Exemption Boards have been instructed to report all the registrants on their lists who are physically fit and qualified for this service. Chairman Lanterman is today telegraphing Adjutant General Boree that he has no cooks on his list but that he has 29 chauffeurs. Up to the 8th of March men can enlist for this service. If not enough recruits are secured in that period, the Board will be called upon to furnish its quota of the number to be made up by a draft call.

Only white men physically qualified for military service may be accepted under these calls. The men will be inducted for Aviation Section Signal Corps and will be sent to Kellyfield, San Antonio, Texas.

Mr. Lanterman hopes that out of the 29 chauffeurs on his list, a large number will enlist under this call.

The Board has been advised that the call for the Spruce Production Division of Aviation Section Signal Corps has been cancelled and no more men may be inducted for that service.

Enlistment is desired under the following calls:

- Medical Department, Fort Riley, Kansas;
- Infantry, Fort McDowell, California;
- Coast Artillery, Fort McDowell, Cal.

In an announcement by the Food Administration the cause for advance in rice prices is attributed to the fact that most rice mills have been running to full capacity in order to supply the demand for 1,000,000 bags for American and allied fighting forces. As a result the normal supply for home consumption has been temporarily reduced. Lower prices are forecasted.

Get behind the War-Savings Stamp with your savings, and your earnings. Buy War-Savings Stamps, shortening and three-fourths cup cold water.

Cornmeal Yeast Bread

One and one-quarter cups milk and water, two tablespoons corn syrup, one tablespoon shortening, two teaspoons salt; bring to a boil the milk and water, add the syrup, shortening and salt, stir in two-thirds cup of cornmeal. When cool add two and one-third cups wheat flour and one cake compressed yeast dissolved in one-quarter cup warm water.

GEN. PERSHING WANTS NINE PAIR OF SHOES A YEAR FOR MEN SERVING IN FRANCE

Gen. Pershing has requested shipment of 18,590 pairs of shoes for each 25,000 men monthly, which is approximately nine pairs of shoes per man per year. This quantity is in excess of actual consumption and is being used to build up a reserve for all troops in France. When such a supply is accumulated, the quantity per man will be reduced.

The Quartermaster General's Department now has on hand and due on outstanding contracts, 7,564,000 field shoes and 7,873,000 marching shoes. It will be necessary to secure more than a million additional shoes during the year.

"OVER THERE"

The mother who received the following letter sends it for publication in order that other mothers of boys in the ranks of our Army in France may know there are officers who take an interest in their men and who do not regard them as mere members of a fighting machine:

"Like any boy in my section," wrote the officer, "I am here a soldier for the war, and because your son, the youngest boy in my section, is one of the best soldiers I have is the reason for this letter, and incidentally to tell you that he is happy in the section so far as outward appearances are concerned. I wish that the military laws would allow me to get a little closer to my boys, but if it means anything to you, it is a pleasure to tell you that your son's car is always in order, his portion of the barracks is always as it should be, and, in short, he is a good soldier. He does his work as well as any older boy in the section, and I am glad that he is here.

"Mothers, I know, are anxious about their boys over here, and they have every reason for anxiety. It is difficult to analyze the mind of the soldier. He is more than liable to assume a don't-care attitude, and fall into many of the traps open to him. Unless I am mistaken, I do not think any of your boy's ideals will be shattered. He does not seem to be the kind who does things because some one else does, and I feel that his service here is serious in every respect.

"I hope that my writing to you in this informal way will be understood. Naturally, I am interested in every boy in my section, but I am very happy that the youngest boy I have has 'come through' as we say, and if there is anything I can do for him I want you to feel free to make such a request of me."—Boston Transcript.

made, and in conclusion congratulated the district on the splendid fulfillment of those pledges in the handsome library quarters and in other improvements made and to be made. In that connection he stated that the Glendale treasury is paying half the cost of the library improvements.

Mrs. Wesley Bullis, as a member of the former Library Board of Tropic and one who had been prominent in the establishment of the library, made a gracious speech in which she expressed appreciation of the attitude of the City Trustees in seeking the welfare of the Tropic District. She referred to the division of sentiment relative to consolidation and concluded with the words: "You have won us over, every one. We are ready now to unitedly stand by Glendale and do everything in our power to uphold it as a city."

Miss Harriet Myers and Miss Cora Hickman told in a delightfully informal conversational style of the early days of the libraries of Tropic and Glendale, how they began with a traveling library of fifty volumes from Sacramento, of the struggles to maintain them by private effort until they were turned over to the municipality, and of their special interest in these children of their fostering care now that they are established institutions of recognized importance in the civic life.

Frank Peters on behalf of "the old Board" voiced their pleasure in the present library environment, saying that without consolidation it could not have been accomplished, because consolidation brought about the vacation of the rooms now utilized for library purposes.

Mrs. J. C. Danford, City Librarian, declared the purpose of the meeting which she had been instrumental in calling, to be "fellowship," and spoke of the appreciation and spirit of co-operation which she had discovered in the people of that section and what a pleasure the work of reorganizing the system had been because of the responsiveness on the part of Mr. Cushing, the Librarian of the Branch, and of the patrons of the library.

Mr. Charles Cushing, the next speaker, in a few words told of the pleasure it gave him to see this development of the library and his appreciation of the work of Mrs. Danford and her corps of assistants.

The meeting then dissolved into a social affair where all discussed the changes and improvements and expressed their satisfaction with the new regime.

The Executive Board was held Monday afternoon at the close of the working session. Highly satisfactory reports were given by the secretary and treasurer and final arrangements were completed for the Membership Drive Meeting to be held in the High School Auditorium, Thursday evening, March 7th.

Two hundred copies of the above letter have been mailed to British born residents of Glendale and vicinity, many addresses having been obtained through the courtesy of the schools. Much interest has been aroused and already several new members have been reported, among them prominent business men of Glendale.

The program at the Thursday meeting will be informal and besides the speakers mentioned there will be vocal selections by Spencer Robinson and Dr. Joseph Marple of this city, and Mrs. Marion Gordon Norman of Los Angeles, who will sing "Dear Home Land."

Misses Dorothy Hunt and Dorothy Morton will give an amusing skit consisting of dance and drill with an imitation goose step, and two songs, "Joan of Arc" and one just received from Camp Kearny.

The audience will sing the national anthems of England and America and a silver offering will be taken which will be devoted to the purchase of wool for knitting. Every one is cordially invited to come and there will be a welcome for all.

STATE HAPPENINGS

VISALIA, Cal. March 5.—Mrs. Orlean B. Howe, former Oakland society woman, went to trial here yesterday for the killing of Wm. B. Brooks, prominent Porterville rancher. Since Brooks was shot in a Porterville hotel lobby last February, Mrs. Howe has been in the Fresno county jail while the prosecution and defense were formulating their cases. Mrs. Howe, in interviews which followed the shooting, declared she fired in a sudden sweep of emotion which came to her when she saw Brooks sitting in the hotel lobby speaking, in a low voice, with a group of men. She claimed that for years Brooks had followed her with whisperings of misconduct on her part and that these stories had followed her to all parts of the United States, to Australia, and finally to Buenos Aires, Argentina. When she heard of the stories being repeated in Argentine, Mrs. Howe claims she determined to seek out Brooks and quiet the whisperings if possible. She returned to this country while her husband remained in Buenos Aires and went to Porterville, where the fatal shooting occurred. Mrs. Howe pleaded not guilty when arraigned and Attorney Frank McGowan of San Francisco has prepared her defense which, it is said, will go into many details. Mrs. Howe's husband hurried to California from Argentina to direct his wife's defense, as soon as he was notified of her arrest. Superior Judge J. A. Allen of Tulare county will preside.

SACRAMENTO, Cal. March 5.—Fifty-one I. W. Ws. indicted here charged with obstructing the nation's war work appeared in court yesterday, their cases having been continued from February 16 when they were arraigned. All were arrested as a result of the investigation which followed the bomb explosion at Governor Stephen's mansion.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 5.—Seattle voters were electing a new mayor at the poles today, to succeed Hiram Gill, who was eliminated at the primaries. Ole Hansen, realty dealer, and Jas. E. Bradford, attorney, are the candidates.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Two hundred California war work leaders gathered here today for a two days' conference arranged by the state council of defense. Leaders in various branches of war activities will be the speakers and much time will go to general discussion.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 5.—Frank Howenstein, Joseph LeRoy and Mrs. Idell Kennedy went to trial in federal court here yesterday charged with having used a method of temporarily impairing the eyesight, to make draft registrants ineligible for army service. Howenstein, who is an optician is said to have devised and administered the treatment and LeRoy and Mrs. Kennedy are accused of having obtained clients for Howenstein.

NEW CLASS

Such enthusiasm has developed in the work of preparing surgical dressings through the classes established in connection with the Tropic Red Cross Auxiliary, and so many new applications have come in, that another class will be organized this week Wednesday afternoon at the headquarters in the City Building on Brand and Tropic avenues, at 2 o'clock. Like the other classes it will be under the instruction of Mrs. William Harvey, Jr., assisted by Mrs. Charles Barker. The work which has been done by the Monday afternoon and Thursday night classes is rated very high by the Los Angeles chapter and the officials of the local organization are greatly pleased with the way women of that part of the city are taking hold of this important service. The Auxiliary has an abundant stock of gauze and additional supplies in prospect, and workers will be very welcome.

A new publication issued by the United States Health Service is the 250-page book, "Prevention of Disease and Care of the Sick," with a supplement on first-aid work. The book has 200 illustrations, and covers subjects relating to disease prevention, care and treatment of sick persons, and emergency measures in the treatment of accidental injuries.
